Futrell Advocates Limiting Sales Tax to Relief of Land

Governor Proposes Tax Exemption of First $2,500-Valuation

QUESTIONS PEOPLE Governor Propounds Queries for the Legislative Campaign

Governor J. Marion Futrell released the following statement to Arkansas newspapers over the week-ends:

By J. MARION FUTRELL, Governor of Arkansas

Before retiring from office, I shall offer the public some suggestions concerning the affairs of this state resulting from study, observation and experience. I shall not be personally or politically concerned as to the results of the public to the state. The best managed business maintains a financial reserve to meet unforeseen contingencies, such as the depression. The same principle should be applied to governments. If the governments of the United States and Arkansas had saved what was wasted in fifteen years prior to the depression, and had otherwise pursued a sane and sensible policy, neither would now be overwhelmed with debt. Due to the spending spirit of the times, it is idle to talk about building up for emergencies a financial reserve in this state. Any legislature that will meet would not spend just three million dollars, but instead, five million, ten million or twenty-five million, if that much revenue were available in the treasury or was in sight during the fiscal period. The legislature is not all to blame. Interested groups swarm down on the legislature and often make them believe that public sentiment favors their proposals. The members of the legislature ought to remember that the masses are rarely represented by lobbyists who appear before committees and in the legislative halls. The only way to hold down the cost of government is to not raise the money. There is no such thing as saving money for the taxpayers except by leaving it in their pockets—don't collect it.

No More Borrowing
We cannot again borrow ourselves to death as we have done in the past since a recent amendment to the constitution prohibits the issue and sale of state bonds without authority from the voters. It is no longer within the power and pastime of a board to sit in the capitol and issue and sell state bonds. This absurd power has been the primary means by which the state has been wrecked. There is no more dread on this score.

The legislature of 1933 cut the cost of government more than half. The legislature increased the expenditures over that of 1933 about six per cent. This was due to the fact that we had more money. While the cost of government was cut more than half in 1933, it is my belief that it can well stand another twenty per cent cut. Will this be done? I don't expect it. We have been getting along on eighty per cent of our former revenue because we used twenty per cent of the general revenue to take up the out-

Some Women of the Same

"On the picnic we had cold chicken salad, pineapple, and cheese. But the children had hard-boiled eggs. I sometimes think there is better character and more kindness among people in the high income tax scale than there is among people in the low income tax scale."

"On Thursday I am riding a bicycle down to Windsor for breakfast. And on Saturday morning I have an engagement with the Lord Mayor of Dover to swim the Channel to Calais for lunch."

"The World Court must have the support of its friends. In a few minutes this interview will be terminated, as I have an engagement to open a gold mine on the air. I shall proceed immediately thereafter to pilot the China Clipper."

One is assured that Mrs. F. D. laughed very heartily at this takeoff on her press conferences.

Urge Prohi Cause to Church Youth

Methodist Bishop Addresses 6,000 at Memphis Meeting Sunday

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—While 6,000 Southern Methodist youth cheered Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes Sunday called for a "censured contest" against the liquor traffic.

"We should not be scared away from the advocacy of a century-old reform by the yapping party-ties of a passing political campaign," the Washington (D. C.) churchman, told the Methodist Young People's Conference.

"This is a time when the principle of prohibition is to be proclaimed unless we are to confess that a 10-decade agitation has been based on falsehood," he said, advocating a program of preparation that the homes and fire-sides of America.

The Methodist leader declared that "to admit that law has no real relation to this whole reform is to surrender a final trench of the ethical warfare."

He said that a cry for national prohibition at present would be unwise, but urged prohibitionists to center their campaigns among their neighbors.

"We must start in the home," he said, responding to a question from the audience. "Take your message there and then to your city, county and state. Remember to support those at the polls and stand by our cause. That is the plan for bringing about the return of national prohibition."

Bitterest Fighting of the War Believed in Prospect This Week

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia.—(Copyright Associated Press)—Ethiopia's capital became jubilant Monday at reports from Dessie, imperial headquarters, that Emperor Haile Selassie had at last ordered his warriors into battle against the Italian invaders.

Government officials estimated that they had 400,000 men on the northern front under five commanders.

It was generally believed that a critical stage of war was at hand and that this coming week would see some of the bitterest fighting of the three-months-old campaign.

The dictator withheld publication of his budget estimates.

Bruno's Nerve Is Believed Breaking

Confession Expected on Eve of His March to Death-House

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—The Court of Pardons, before which Bruno Richard Hauptmann's petition for clemency is pending, met behind locked doors Monday.

The court was expected to limit its action in the Hauptmann case to fixing the date to consider his appeal.

His Nerve Failing

TRENTON, N. J.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's iron nerves were reported breaking Sunday night on the eve of Monday's meeting of the Court of Pardons and the scheduled execution of another of his fellow inmates in the death house.

Roman Johnson, negro, murderer of a farmer's wife, is the only man doomed to go to the electric chair here before Bruno himself, is slated to walk the gallows.

"Something must be done," the former German convict, posing his case like a man crazed by fear and smoking incessantly, has exclaimed repeatedly since Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's voluntary exile to England was made known to him.

"The time is getting short," he also has said, again and again.

Hauptmann is sentenced to die the week of January 13. Officials who received detailed reports of every new manifestation of the condemned man's emotional strain, frankly admitted a breakdown "confession" is leaked for Gov. Harold G. Service Curtailed at Hope Postoffice

Windows to Close at Noon Saturday Because of 40-Hour Week

Acting on official orders from the Postoffice Department, Washington, D. C., Postmaster Robert Wilson announced Monday that window service at the local office would be discontinued on Saturday afternoons.

The new order goes into effect Saturday, January 4. On and after that date all service windows will close promptly at 1 p. m.

"This is an economy move, and is made necessary by the 40-hour week law recently enacted by congress," Mr. Wilson said.

"It is in keeping with the custom that has been observed in practically all offices of this size for some time."

"This earlier closing of window service, which includes stamp, money order and general delivery windows on Saturday afternoons will in no way affect the receipt and dispatch of mail."

"Mail will be dispatched the same as on any other day and will be placed in postoffice boxes on the same schedule as any other day."

"This is a matter over which the local office has no control and it is believed that, with the proper spirit and co-operation on the part of the general public, it can be accomplished with very little inconvenience to anyone," Mr. Wilson concluded.

Nearly a Million in Beer and Liquor Taxes During 1935

Wiseman Lifts 1936 Estimate $200,000 Despite Local Referendums

LIQUOR TAX LEADS

Produced $659,845 in Gallonage and Permit Taxes Since March

By O. P. HANES, Associated Press Staff Writer

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Legal whisky marched into Arkansas in 1935 but marched right back out again in many areas.

In more than a score of elections held under the local option clause of the Thorne legalization legislation, the trend has been more than ten to one in favor of prohibition.

Two counties—Howard and Nevada—have voted dry. Elections on the question are expected to follow each other thick and fast during the coming year.

Despite the "election box score" showing a big majority of those voting favoring prohibition, State Revenue Commissioner Earl R. Wiseman predicted Monday a $200,000 increase in liquor gallonage tax in 1936 over 1935.

The revenue commissioner produced figures showing that the thirty of Arkansas added nearly a million dollars to state revenue in 1935 in tax payments on alcoholic beverages.

The Revenue

His tabulation of the revenue follows:

Liquor Tax $429,873.78

Wine Permits 8,495.00

Wine Tax 4,383.47

Beer Tax 321,440.04

Beer Permits 22,700.00

Liquor Permits 228,971.80

Malt Tax 4,085.88

Total $860,953.97

Beer tax collections in 1935 were $40,889.62 greater than in 1934 and beer permits this year netted $52,700 compared to $44,244.75 last year.

"The malt tax collections for this year and last furnish proof that home brew making is on the decline in Arkansas," Wiseman said. "We collected $12,837.46 in malt tax in 1934 but it fell off to $4,085.88 this year."

Beer in Warm Months

Wiseman's records showed that beer consumption is at its peak in July and August, with January and February the months of fewest sales, the 1935 monthly beer tax collections were:

January, $3,146.32; February, $2,494.46; March, $6,828.45; April, $9,375.88; May, $10,513.83; June, $13,393.78; July, $17,971.71; August, $17,358.97; September, $15,636.49; October, $15,225.55; November, $11,294.58; December, $8,008.

October, November and December were the big liquor tax collection months. Heavy tax collections for April were credited by Wiseman to the rush of buying that followed legalization by the last general assembly.

The 1935 monthly liquor tax collections were:

March, $29,096.05

April, $35,181.80

May, $22,818.24

June, $22,136.75

July, $35,234.52

August, $34,806.05

September, $43,019.25

October, $60,813.54

November, $55,767.58

December, 60,000.

Jo Nichol Starts Couch's Roll Call for the Centennial Fund

FINE BLUFF, Ark.—Jo Nichol, president of the Simmons National Bank of Pine Bluff and former president of the Arkansas Bankers association, Sunday urged business men of the state to enlist in the movement to give Arkansas a centennial celebration "worthy of the state."

Mr. Nichol became the first "centennial volunteer" when he delivered his check to Harvey C. Couch, chairman of the Centennial Commission, after reading of the call for volunteers.

Mr. Nichol said:

"Business men of the state should get behind this movement 100 per cent. Their co-operation will stir up the necessary public opinion. The centennial celebration should mean something to our pride as a state. The citizens of our state want a centennial but we need the co-operation and backing of our leading figures."

"Public opinion, I feel, will result in finding the necessary finances somehow. I believe the business men will respond to the call for volunteers, but we need the co-operation of our people through civic pride."

Lessons in Law-Making

By the Associated Press

2. How Laws Are 'Born'

Legislation in congress originates in various ways.

The president may send brief messages from time to time, each making a specific recommendation. Usually a senator or representative will prepare a bill carrying out the president's recommendations and introduce it immediately upon receipt of the message. If this is not done, the committee considering the message may draft such a bill and report it to the senate or house.

Bills for raising revenue, under the constitution, must originate in the house of representatives.

A bill may originate through any member of the senate or house. The member prepares his bill and introduces it in the house or senate. It immediately is referred to the proper committee, which will consider it and report it favorable if the committee considers the proposed legislation desirable.

Many bills remain in committee undisturbed and never are heard from again. In some cases they have served their purpose without further action. They have advertised the member and the project. Many bills introduced have no chance of serious consideration or passage.

Several members may introduce similar bills. The committee considering them may combine the best features of several of them in a new bill, or it may write an entirely new measure and report it.

Some legislation originates by petitions from citizens.

Tomorrow—Legislative Procedure.

Home-Building Up 85 Per Cent in 1935

But Development of Low-Cost Homes Still Remains Uncertain

NEW YORK.—(P)—L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central system, in a survey of 1935 declared his railroad was well prepared to meet the expected 1936 demand for transportation service as a result of extensive reconditioning in the past year.

"Cars of freight handled the first 11 months of 1935 were more than 5 per cent over the same period of 1934, more than 12 per cent over the same period of 1933 and nearly 11 per cent over the same period of 1932," he said.

Passenger traffic, he stated, was about even with 1934 in the first 10 months of 1935 but nearly 35 per cent higher than the 1933 period, the first Century of Progress exposition year.

Also figured into 1934 travel were reduced fares and traffic resulting from the second exposition in Chicago.

"The number of new industries established on the Illinois Central system during 1935 seemed likely to reach 200, an increase of 27 per cent over 1934, of 79 per cent over 1933 and of 178 per cent over 1932," he continued.

"The new capital invested in these industries during 1935 was expected to reach $13,000,000."
